SCANDAL LANE. BY MRS. M. A. KIDDER.

It is not on the signboard, sir, Go search both far and wide; Or in the town directory, The map or railroad guide; And if you pump your neighbors, sir, You pump, alas! in vain, For no one e'eracknowledged yet He lived in Seaudal Lane!

It is a fearful neighborhood, So secret and so sly; Although the tenants oftentimes Include the rich and high. I'm told they're even cannibals, And when they dine or sup, By way of change they'll turn about, And eat each other up!

They much prefer the youthful, sir, The beautiful and rare; They grind up character and all, And call it wholesome fare! And should the helpless victim wince, They heed not cries of pain;

These very bloody cannibals,

That live in Scandal Lapel

If you should chance to dine with them, Pray never be deceived; When they seem most like bosom friends, They're least to be believed. Their claws are sheathed in yelvet, sir, Their teeth are hid by smiles, And woe betide the innocent

When they have singled out their prey, They make a cat-like spring; Or hug them like a serpent, ere They plant the fatal sting! And then they wash their guilty hands, Mambrino Pilot, Brignoli, Kentucky Chief and Idol, and cousin to Dexter and George Wilkes, But don't efface the stain, These very greedy cannibals

That live in Scandal Lane!

Who falls beneath their wiles!

Vance Porter - Death of an Old Pionerr-A Scrap of Kentucky History.

From the Bowling Green Democrat. One by one the old landmarks of Kentucky are passing away, and in a few short years there will be none of the veteran pioneers left to relate their trials and thrill ing adventures in the early settlement of Cash Capital, Two Million Dollars, the "dark and bloody ground" Though he has left no great work as a monument of his powers, no one has left a deeper of Warren county, than the subject of this 31st Semi-Annual Statement, impression upon the minds of the people sketch. Vance Porter was born in Fayette county in 1798, and was consequently seventy- Other Property, Miscellaneons Ione years of age. His parents. John and Premiums due and uncollected on Jane Porter, emigrated to Kentucky about Steamer Magnet and Wrecking the beginning of the nineteenth century, Apparatus and settled in Lexington. They were of Government Stamps on hand Scotch-Irish descent, singularly productive both of great men and great families. The race seems long to have retained its love Claims for Losses outstanding on of mountain dwellings. Hardy and en- lst January, 1869, Due Stockholders on account of terprising, they did not shrink from the danger of a border life. They were well fitted to be the pioneers of a new republic, and their names are to be found on every page of early Western history.

In childhood, the deceased was the companion of Henry Clay and his brother, Rev. Porter Clay, of whom he often related that they were raised, like himself, in an humble and hardy manner, never rejoicing at the sight of a pair of snoes more than once a year-at Christmas- USE WOLL when their young hearts leaped for joy .-He attributed his long life to the rough and fugged manner in which he was raised. He was strictly temperate in all his habits, never having used intoxicating liquors during his life, although for a number of years he conducted a distillery for his father, and passed through every temptation.

After a residence of some eight or ten years in Lexington, John Porter, the father of the deceased, removed to this neighborhood, and settled on a farm about two miles from the one on which Vance lived and died. The father and son were both noted for their skill, enterprise and indus. try as farmers. When the deceased came to Warren county, all this section was a vast prairie, covered with barren grass, CLOTHS & CASSIMERES and the lofty forest had not then sprouted. Fuel had to be hauled from the surrounding knobs, which was very difficult. The barren grass grew to the hight of four or At five feet, and looked much like oats, but was unfit for stock or any other purpose. Cloakings & Overcoatings, Millinery Goods! Immigrants passing through would often set it on fire, in the early spring, when it was dry, and the flames would travel with lightning rapidity, often sweeping away the cabins and fences of the settlers, leaving them for days at the mercy of the elements. However, the few families in the neighborhood always banded together in Jeans & Linseys, such times of peril and fought the fiery element with all their might and vigor.

He frequently met the boones on his hunting expeditions in the early days, and related many anecdotes of old Dan and his brothers. One of them lived within HATS & CAPS a few miles of his farm for a number of years. They were of restless disposition, always seeking adventures and almost wholly given to hunting. Their unerring At aim rendered them famous among the early settlers as marksmen. With such he thought it quite natural that Daniel Boone always kept in advance of the march Notions & Dress Trimmings of civilization, until the close of his eventful career, which found him in the wilds of Missouri, to which distant land his love Gimps, Headings, Fringes of adventure and roving disposition led

I told him how the sacred tomb of Daniel Boone had been desecrated by the sacriligious hands of vandals during the war. The old veteran raising his hand in astonishment, exclaimed: "Great God! and has human nature become so degenerated as to deface the tombs that commemorate the men who waded through blood to provide homes in this great Commonwealth for posterity!" Such fiendish spirits were unheard of among the men who settled Kentucky. If a man was not brave, honest and true to the principles of manhood and honor, he stood no chance in those days They exterminated or banished all such characters, for they had no use for any but honorable and brave men. and Consumption. never before in the whole hist medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them?

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral Postoral Forder of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it.
